

ecology center of san francisco

Ecology Center of San Francisco

ECOSF's December Newsletter

Discover Hetch Hetchy

Hetch Hetchy Valley, "Yosemite's twin" in California's Sierra Nevada mountains, now sits hidden under 300 feet of water, as its Tuolumne River was dammed in 1923 to form a reservoir. The Tuolumne River's water can be stored further downstream -- outside Yosemite National Park -- to continue the supply of water to San Francisco, allowing us to reclaim this treasured landscape. Sign the Discover Hetch Hetchy Pledge and join our campaign to restore this natural wonder.

http://action.environmentaldefense.org/campaign/hetch\_hetchy1